aspire to the office, and, if nominated, could not accept the nomination. Mr. Hammond declined to authorize this statement. The fact is that he has a great ambition for the nomination of Mayor at Hammond, and hopes, as stated last night, to get out of a losing congressional race by that means, but in the event of defeat for the mayoralty nomination he wants to be in a position to say that he was not a candidate. Mr. Hammond has stated to his friends here that he much preferred to be Mayor than Congressman, and that it would cost him less to make the race for the first position than the latter. Besides he has interests at Hammond and he would like to be home to look after them.

Candidates for Hammond's Seat. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

VALPARAISO, Ind., March 20 .- The Democrats of the city were greatly surprised to-day to learn that Congressman Hammond would not be a candidate for renomination, but would return to Hammond, Ind., and be a candidate for Mayor, which office he filled several years. Several candidates are already mentioned for the place, notably Hon. Clem J. Kern, of this city. ex-Congressman Thomas J. Wood of Crown Point, Hon. S. P. Sheerin of Logansport, secretary of the Democratic national committee, and ex-Senator Valentine Zimmerman, of Rochester. The outlook for the Democratic candidate is anything but favorable, as Congressman Hammond was elected only by 42 plurality over Judge

NAVAL APPROPRIATIONS.

No Provisions Made for New Ships in the Bill Soon to Be Reported.

WASHINGTON, March 20 .- The naval appropriation bill, as prepared by the subcommittee on naval affairs, was laid before the full committee to-day. In preparing the bill the subcommittee followed very · closely the estimates submitted by the Secretary of the Navy, making but few changes. The estimates of the Secretary amounted to $27,875,914, and the total amount recommended by the subcommittee is $27,-$87,930. The estimate of $276,750 for the Bureau of Navigation submitted by the Secretary is cut down by the subcommittee to $148,000. The total running expenses of the navy, the estimates for which were $15,420,889, are cut down to $15,332,905. Under the head of increase of the navy there is appropriated $6,400,000, a reduction of $100,-000 from the department's estimates. This amount is for armament and armor. When the Carnegie armor-plate irregularities were discovered the naval committee felt dis-posed to debit the department with the amount of the fine imposed on the Carnegies. This fine is approximately $100,000. Whether the reduction of $100,000 in the Secretary's estimates is on this account is not disclosed in the subcommittee's report. For construction and machinery the partment's estimates were $5,955,025, and this entire amount has been allowed by the

No new naval vessels are provided for in the bill in its present form. It is probable, however, that provision for three or four new torpedo boats will be inserted by the full committee. A preposition to that effect is now pending. It does not contemplate a new appropriation for the torpado boats, but the use of funds heretofore appropriated and not used. Such funds are available from the amount heretofors allowed for a dynamite cruiser similar to the Vesuvius, which cruiser is not likely to be built. The torpedo boats are small and inexpensive craft. No project for a battleship or other large craft has yet been

To Enlarge the Veto Power.

WASHINGTON, March 20.-The question of amending the Constitution of the United States so as to give to the President the right to veto items of appropriation bills has long been one that many members of Congress have given considerable thought to. It is well known that frequently the chief executive finds provisions in these bills that are objectionable to him, yet, rather than sacrifice the numerous items which would result from a veto, he signs the bills and they become laws as a whole. Fruitless efforts have been made in previous Congresses to remedy this unsatisfactory condition of affairs, and in this Congress a similar attempt will be made. Representative Dearmond has introduced in the House a resolution amending the Constitution so as to empower the President to veto any one or more items in an appropriation

PECULIAR COLLEGE SUIT.

Case that Is Alleged to Put Harvard University in a Bad Light.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 20 .- Papers were served to-day on Dr. Jay W. Seaver, physical director of Yale University, and John C. Kobabian, a local importer of Turkish goods, in a suit brought by the president and fellows of the Harvard College to recover $110 on bond of $400 given by Dr. Seaver and Kobabian as a guarantee that the tuition and other bills of Sarkis Kobabian while a student at Harvard would be paid. The trial will, it is expected, bring out some peculiar things. The defense will charge the authorities at Harvard with having lured young Kobabian from Yale by offering him flattering inducements which never were realized. Furthermore the claim will be made that the Harvard authorities in a desire to outstrip Yale in the close race for numerical supremacy, have on occasions indulged in this practice to rob Yale of her undergrad-

Tyler, Ingersoll and Moran represent Harvard, but they decline to say anything concerning the suit beyond the allegations contained in the complaint, namely that young Kobabian is indebted to Harvard, and that his bondsmen are responsible. Sarkis Kobabian, a young Turk, a brother of the defendant, entered Yale in 1890. While a sophomore he learned that the advantages at Harvard for men of slender means, but with high intellectual attainments, were better than at Yale. He wrote to the Harvard authorities about the mat ter, and in reply received a letter offering him very flattering inducements to leave Yale and enter Harvard. He was told, it was alleged, that if he entered Harvard and maintained a certain standing in his classes he would be assured one of the scholarships offered by the college. Kobabian entered Harvard in 1892. He at once took a high rank, excelling the necessary stand to secure a scholarship. The scholarship prize was not forthcoming, however, and after a year of waiting Kobabian left Harvard, owing $110 to the college for board and tuition. A demand was made on him for the money, but he refused to pay, claiming that he had fulfilled his part of the contract regarding the scholarship, and the college owed him more than the amount of his bill.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. LEBANON, Ind., March 20 .- An attempt to assassinate Chief of Police Charles Oden was made late last night while he was watching a questionable resort in a secluded spot in the south part of the city. He paid no attention to the matter at the time, but yesterday Chief Oden received a similar notice and fell into the trap. THE BARRETT LAW AGAIN. Test Case Carried to the Supreme Court from Connersville.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CONNERSVILLE, Ind., March 20.-The appeal of an interesting civil suit was taken from the Fayette county Circuit Court to the Supreme Court to-day. Two years ago, under the Barrett law, the city passed an ordinance requiring property owners on Central avenue to pave the sidewalks with stone or asphalt. Mrs. Anna Merrill, daughter of A. B. Conwell, deceased, who has a life estate in a block of very valuable lan I near the center of the city, refused to comply with the provisions of the ordinance. The city finally contracted for the work and paid the contractors. Then instituted against Merrill for $300, the cost of the sidewalk. Through her attorney, R. Conner, a demurrer to the complaint was made, and the case has been in litigation since that time. The defendant's demurrer was on the ground that the city was not the proper party to bring suit, and that they should have allowed the contractors to collect from the estate. Judge Swift to-day sustained the demurrer, and City Attorney Broaddus promptly appealed. Should the Supreme Court reverse the ruling and defendant win the case on final trial in the court here the city claims it will be unable to secure bids on street and sidewalk improvement, as contractors strongly object to collecting from the property owners.

DENVER, Col., March 20 .- The First Regiment Colorado National Guard arrived here from Cripple Creek to-night, and will be kept under orders to be ready for immediate service until the police board trouble is settled. An opinion by the Supreme Court is not expected before Friday. Unless the court gives a direct answer to the Governor's question of whether Orr and Martin or Mullin and Barnes are entitled to the seats in the board which are in contention, the Governor will not be bound by any opinion the court may see fit to deliver, and will again take steps to seat his latest ap-

Judge Platt Rogers, the Governor's principal counsel, said to-night: "Impeachment or assassination only can interfere with the Governor in calling out the troops of the State. The court has no more right to advise the head of the executive in regard to that matter than has a private individual. The Governor has not asked for any opinion on that subject. Unless the court declares flatly that Orr and Martin are the rightful commissioners, Governor Waite proposes to put Mullins and Barnes in their places, even if it be necessary to call out the whole force of militia and all the ablebodied Populists in the State.

Chief Stone, of the police department, admits that he expects a renewal of hostilities, and is making elaborate preparations for battle. A strong guard is on duty at the City Hall to-night, and will be maintained there until the present trouble is Governor Waite will file in the District

Court to-morrow an affidavit setting forth that he is responsible for the organization of the new board, and will demand that he be included in the contempt proceedings for violating the injunction. BATTLE IN A SALOON.

CHICAGO, March 20.-While Philip Jacobs, a saloon keeper at Thirty-sixth and Dearborn streets, was serving customers to-night five strangers entered and ordered beer. While Jacobs was turned the men drew revolvers, and when he turned demanded $100. Jacobs dropped to the floor, seized two revolvers and opened fire. One of the strangers ran to the end of the bar and another leaned over its top and both began firing at Jacobs. Bullets flew in every direction, and all the peaceable inmates of the place sought shelter. Finally the strangers departed, after three of them had been wounded, one being badly cut about the head with broken glass. Another was heard to exclaim that he had been hit four times, and a third was shot in the arm. Jacobs escaped unhurt. Up to a late hour no arrests had been made. 1 14541

Superintendent Byrnes Reprimanded. NEW YORK, March 20.-Superintendent Byrnes was rather sharply called down by the Police Commissioners to-day. At a pre vious meeting of the board the superintendent was asked to explain why he did not prefer charges against Captain Haughey for failure to raid disorderly houses when directed to do so. His reply was that Capt. Haughey was not to blame. Then he was ordered to prefer charges anyway. To-day he reported that in his opinion Haughey had done his whole duty; that had he thought otherwise he should have promptly preferred charges against him. When this report was received two members of the board remarked that this was a case parallel to that of Captain Price. The upshot was a peremptory resolution directing Supt.
